MESSAGES FROM OUR COMMITTEE CHAIRS

BRUCE RUZINSKY | DIVERSITY COMMITTEE CHAIR

Jackson Walker provides an inclusive and supportive environment for all. We recognize that the success of our minority and women lawyers is essential to the success of our firm. As reflected in this Annual Report, we have made significant strides concerning the Firm's diversity. We will continue to proactively recruit, retain, invest in, and advance a diverse workforce while maintaining and expanding our inclusive environment.

MICHELLE MOORE SMITH | JW² COMMITTEE CHAIR

Jackson Walker Women (JW²) is a manifestation of the Firm's commitment to creating opportunities for our women attorneys to develop leadership skills and build strong networks. The programs and events that JW² hosts enable us to do that while also providing crucial support to the working women of the Firm.

MESSAGE FROM OUR MANAGING PARTNER

At Jackson Walker, we believe that our differences make us stronger. The respect we have for our colleagues requires that we appreciate the unique backgrounds and perspectives that each brings to the workplace and that we provide a safe and welcoming environment. We take pride in the diversity of backgrounds and viewpoints among our colleagues. As a firm, we stand for diversity, inclusion, and a firm culture where we take our work seriously but not ourselves. That's what makes us special – something I hear over and over again.

Having a team as diverse as our clients and our communities makes us a better, more vibrant and innovative law firm and a healthier place to work. We consistently rank among the top Texas firms in The American Lawyer's Diversity Scorecard and are a multi-year top performer in the Leadership Council on Legal Diversity's rankings. Yet, as a firm, we understand that diversity is not measured just by numbers, nor does inclusion flow simply from bringing diverse colleagues together. While we know there is more work to be done, we are proud of our progress and will continue to work to leverage our diversity to provide ever more innovative service to our clients.

Our firm has a long-standing commitment to the communities where we practice law, and we are particularly gratified that many of our diverse attorneys have become leaders in advancing the missions of a variety of organizations that make the world a better place. We invite you to learn about their efforts on the pages that follow. As a firm, through the efforts of our attorneys and our financial contributions, we proudly support a wide range of organizations that work to promote diversity and inclusion. We are honored to have been recognized for our assistance in advancing the missions of these critical groups.

Our commitment to diversity and inclusion is critical to the firm's mission and is the key to our future. As we continue along the path of progress, we strive daily to become more inclusive, caring, and supportive.

IMPACTING COMMUNITIES

A long-standing and ongoing commitment to the community is an important part of Jackson Walker's culture. Our diverse attorneys play a key role in local, regional, and national civic, charitable, and professional organizations.

BRINGING SUNSHINE TO KIDS

Chris Mugica & Jorge Padilla, Board Members

Chris and Jorge volunteer their time with Austin Sunshine Camps, which has benefitted disadvantaged and at-risk children for almost 100 years.

"Sunshine Camps helps a community that sometimes gets overlooked here in the Austin area," Jorge says. "It's a great way for kids who wouldn't have the advantage of going to a summer camp to get that experience and also get some great after school programs during the school year."

Chris' relationship with Sunshine Camps began when he was a camper at age 10. He has served on the board of the camps' parent organization and of the Austin Sunshine Foundation. Jorge got involved after Chris told him about the organization, and he has since been instrumental in organizing the Sunshine Run.

One thing Jorge enjoys most is transporting children to the camps, showing them parts of Austin they may not have seen before, like the Capitol or Lady Bird Lake.

"Working with Austin Sunshine Camps demonstrates Jackson Walker's focus on serving our communities," Chris says. "Community involvement is something that's vital to the character of the folks here at Jackson Walker."

PUSHING FOR A HEAD START

Chevazz Brown believes all children should have the same chance for success. That's what motivated him to get involved in AVANCE-Houston, a nonprofit that serves the needs of low-income families through parent education and support programs.

"All Americans deserve the same opportunities," Chevazz says. "AVANCE helps open up those opportunities to low-income communities that would not otherwise have them."

As Director and Chair of the Governance Committee, Chevazz traveled to the State Capitol to lobby for support of the early childhood program Head Start. While in Austin, Chevazz met with Texas congressional delegates to share AVANCE's mission and explain how it benefits communities. With continued bipartisan support, Head Start can help children ages 3 to 5 develop socially and physically to ultimately prepare them to enter kindergarten.

AVANCE's impact on the Houston area—with over 6,000 parents and children served in 2016 alone—is what drew Chevazz to the organization. "Our mission is to unlock America's potential by strengthening families in at-risk communities."

Stronger families lead to greater opportunities for children of those families, and Chevazz is working hard to secure resources so that AVANCE can continue its mission.

WILLIE HORNBERGER | MAKING A DIFFERENCE WITH AVANCE-DALLAS' LATINO STREET FEST

Willie expands Jackson Walker's efforts to help the underserved Hispanic population through his participation with AVANCE-Dallas. AVANCE's mission is to engage children, inspire parents, mentor teachers, and build communities through a dual-generational education program that develops cognitive skills to help children succeed and overcome poverty as a barrier. Willie has chaired the AVANCE-Dallas board and was instrumental in bringing its largest fundraiser, the Latino Street Fest, to downtown Dallas.

IMPACTING COMMUNITIES

FIGHTING MS THROUGH MEAT FIGHT

Mike Laussade, Director

Supporting the community is an essential aspect of diversity and inclusion that requires everyone to dedicate their time to ensure the needs of others are fulfilled. Mike supports this principle through his work as Director and General Counsel of Meat Fight, a Dallas nonprofit that raises funds for those living with MS. Meat Fight began in 2010 as a barbecue competition among friends. Two years later, the competition went public with 12 competing chefs from Dallas. Now, the popular event attracts over 1,000 people and is an annual highlight that typically sells out in less than an hour. To date, the organization has raised nearly $1 million in the fight against MS.

SAN ANTONIO MEDICAL FOUNDATION

Stephanie Chandler, Committee Chair

In addition to her role leading Jackson Walker's Technology practice, Stephanie chairs the Grant Committee of the San Antonio Medical Foundation, which fosters collaboration among local healthcare and science institutions by awarding grants. These grants have helped research teams to fund discoveries regarding diabetic ulcers, surgical skin wounds, and similar injuries. Other groundbreaking studies have also involved the effect of maternal obesity and diabetes on a baby's growth and body composition.

FOUNDATION FIGHTING BLINDNESS

Randy Farber, Officer

Randy was diagnosed in the '80s with Retinitis Pigmentosa, a disease that causes gradual vision loss and often blindness. When his vision grew worse and blindness became a reality, he learned what tools were available to him to help continue his active legal practice. Now, Randy advocates for the blind, serving as a Board Member of the National Association of Blind Lawyers and an Officer of the Foundation Fighting Blindness in Houston. Randy also speaks on hiring disabled attorneys and embracing differences within the legal profession.

HANDS-ON HELP AFTER HARVEY

In the wake of Hurricane Harvey, the Jackson Walker team came together to help those in need with hands-on support.

Priya Coffey led a Task Force of 28 attorneys and staff to collect monetary contributions, coordinate volunteer and pro bono efforts, and reach out to displaced clients and those in the legal community affected by the floods. The Task Force offered coverage for hearings and closings, office space, and technical support.

Sara McEown led the production of 13 articles and newsletters with helpful information on the insurance claims process, deadlines, tax tips, and other resources. This information was distributed to more than 20,000 individuals in the days following the storm, and it was shared across Houston. In fact, a local church translated each of the newsletters into Chinese as a resource for its members.

An employee relief fund administered by the Task Force was funded by the Firm and donations from employees. The fund met urgent needs, and portions of the fund supported other Houston organizations.

In all, attorneys and staff volunteered more than 2,000 hours of time to provide relief to the Houston community.

Chevazz co-chaired the committee that planned and executed the 32nd Annual Eikenburg Fun Run to raise money for The Center, a United Way agency that offers people with intellectual disabilities the chance to reach their full potential. The event proceeds totaled over $62,000, the fourth largest amount raised for a Fun Run in the committee's 32-year history. In honor of his work on the committee, Chevazz received the Houston Bar Association's President's Award.

GOLF FOR GRADS—ONEGOAL

Trey McDonald, Board Member

Since 2015, Trey has served as a member of the Young Advisory Board of OneGoal. In March, Trey joined the Houston community in showing support for the second annual Golf for Grads event. The tee-off competition raised awareness of OneGoal’s nationwide movement to encourage high school students to attend college and also celebrated a 79 percent college enrollment rate for OneGoal-Houston’s inaugural class. With the community’s support, the event raised about $200,000 to fund seven new cohorts—over 175 students—to participate in the three-year program.

OUR NEW DIVERSE TALENT

SALUTING OUR VETERANS

NEVER FORGETTING THE SACRIFICES MADE

Five years before joining Jackson Walker as a Dallas associate, Justin V. Lee was serving as commander of an Army Chinook unit in Afghanistan with some of the most battle-tested fighters in the military, including commandos from the Navy's SEAL Team 6. Justin's unit called itself "Extortion Company," and pilots like Lee flew challenging missions at high altitudes over hostile environments and rough terrain, almost always at night.

Today, he speaks out about his experiences because he wants Americans to care about the military actions going on far from our shores.

Justin believes in keeping the memory of those who have offered to serve their country and lost their lives in the process. He wears a bracelet with the names of the five crew members of Extortion 17 ("one-seven"), the Chinook under his command that was shot down in Afghanistan on August 6, 2011. The incident killed all 38 occupants in the deadliest loss of U.S. forces during the Afghanistan war.

While the vast majority of attempts to shoot down American helicopters fail, this one succeeded for one reason: chance.

"If this [operation] was survivable, that was the right crew to have. There was a lot of experience in that cockpit, the flight engineers, and the door gunners. It was a good crew, it really was. One of the best crews in my company."

Justin remained in Afghanistan flying combat missions for eight months before returning home in spring 2012, completing his Army service, and graduating from SMU Law with honors.

"Over time, certain memories will fade, certain details will fade," he said. "But one thing that doesn't fade is never forgetting what they did."

SERVING AROUND THE WORLD

Having served around the world, military veterans provide a strong source of leadership ability, and talent, yet law firms are often slow to recognize the unique skills that veterans bring to the practice of law. Jackson Walker actively recruits veterans and ensures that their unique expertise is put to use for the benefit of our clients.

WORKING FOR WOMEN

Jackson Walker Women, also referred to as JW², is an initiative dedicated to the recruitment, retention, and promotion of female professionals. Through its programs, JW² creates opportunities for women attorneys to build strong networks to sustain a successful and satisfying legal career. It also supports them in their efforts to make an impact in communities across Texas.

AROUND THE STATE

SUPPORTING WOMEN'S CAREER PATHS

Maternity Leave Mentoring Program

Created with input from women partners who have taken maternity leave, the program supports an expectant mother throughout her pregnancy and through her return to the practice. A female partner mentor works with the attorney, her practice group leader, and her practice mentor to ensure a smooth transition, whether it's on a traditional or alternative work schedule.

OnRamp Fellowship

Through participation in the OnRamp Fellowship program, Jackson Walker presents opportunities for top women attorneys to return to the practice of law after a hiatus. Once the yearlong fellowship concludes, Fellows who do excellent work receive professional references or, if a relevant position becomes available, may interview for a longer-term role. Such is the case for OnRamp Fellow Lawton Cummings, who accepted a permanent position with the Firm last year.

JW² LEADERS IN THE SPOTLIGHT

The Minority Corporate Counsel Association named Houston partner Amy Baird a 2017 Rainmaker in its Diversity & the Bar Rainmakers list. This annual publication highlights ten diverse lawyers nationwide who demonstrate excellent skills in business development.

Houston partner Courtney Carlson was appointed by State Bar President G. Thomas Vick Jr. to the State Bar of Texas Women in the Profession Committee. The committee promotes and elevates women attorneys in the legal field. Courtney is serving her first year of a three-year term.

San Antonio partner Stephanie Chandler was named a winner of the San Antonio Business Journal's 2017 Women's Leadership Awards. The Texas Lawbook also named Stephanie one of the top nine M&A dealmaking women attorneys in Texas.

San Antonio associate Amanda Crouch received the Belva Lockwood Outstanding Young Lawyer Award from the Bexar County Women's Bar Foundation. The award recognizes women attorneys who embody the characteristics of its namesake, Belva Lockwood, who was an attorney known for her advocacy for women's rights.

Dallas partner Retta Miller was named one of Benchmark Litigation's Top 250 Women in its Litigation 2017 list, recognizing leading female litigators in the U.S. This honor reflects her outstanding accomplishments and prominence as a trial lawyer.

Texas Lawyer recognized Mary Emma Karam, Dallas partner and business development chair, as a Distinguished Leader in its 2017 Professional Excellence Awards. Mary Emma was also named one of the Top 15 Business Women in Dallas by the National Women's Council, one of the National Diversity Council's Women's Initiatives.

San Antonio partner Lauren Ciminello was named one of the winners of the San Antonio Business Journal's 2017 Outstanding Lawyers Award. The award recognizes local attorneys who are not only successful and known for excellent performance in their field, but who are making a difference in their organizations, the legal industry, and the community.

THE AMERICAN LAWYER | 'TOP FIRM' FOR DIVERSITY

Jackson Walker ranked as the third most diverse law firm headquartered in Texas, moving up 13 spots with a score of 28.1. The rankings list Am Law 200 and National Law Journal 250 firms based on the percentage of ethnically diverse attorneys employed in 2017. Our score, calculated by adding the percentage of diverse attorneys to the percentage of diverse partners, reflects the Firm's efforts to attract, retain, and promote a diverse range of attorneys.
